PROGRAM STATEMENT

SFLC is a non-profit licensed child care charity that operates multiple centre-based and licensed home child care programs and ensures that the following approaches will be implemented in the program:

1. Meet the individual developmental needs of the whole child through promoting their health, safety, nutrition and well-being; create positive learning environments and experiences supporting their learning and development; incorporate indoor and outdoor active play, rest and quiet time considering the individual needs each child;
2. Arrange carefully planned learning environments for child-lead active exploration opportunities fostering exploration, play and inquiry; provide child-initiated and adult-supported experiences; creating positive environments and experiences so learning and development will be supported;
3. Foster positive relationships, maintain communication and support continuous learning between staff, children, families and community partners with positive and responsive interactions among everyone to encourage the children to interact and communicate in a positive way supporting their ability to self-regulate; foster the engagement of and ongoing communication with parents about the program and their children; involve local community partners allowing partners to support the children, their families and staff; support staff, home child care providers or others who interact with the children at a child care centre or home child care premises in relation to continuous professional learning; and
4. Reflect, document and review the effectiveness of our programs and the impact of the strategies set out in the CCEYA in clauses (a) to (j) for children and their families. O. Reg. 126/16, s. 32 (2-4); and to ensure that:
 - all new staff, home child care providers, students and volunteers review the program statement prior to interacting with children and anytime when program statement modified.
 - the approaches set out in program statement are implemented in the operation of this program at each child care centre SFLC operates and each premises where we oversee the provision of home child care.

Ska:na Family Learning Centre (SFLC) child care program strives to meet individual development needs of the whole child by ensuring that the staff and Home Child Care Providers embrace and implement the Anishinaabe (Ojibwe) culture, and How Does Learning Happen? (HDLH?) as prescribed in this statement.

MINO BIMAADZIWIN - THE GOOD LIFE is a wholistic way of life, rooted in the Anishinaabe (Ojibwe) culture, and encompasses a relationship with all living things. Individuals living “The Good Life” experience and display joy, celebration, and the ability to give thanks. Staff, families and children are greeted and give thanks daily for the care and support they receive from SFLC.

How Does Learning Happen? (HDLH?), Ontario’s Pedagogy for the Early Years defines learning through relationships for those working with young children and families. HDLH? supports pedagogy and curriculum/program development in early years’ programs with a view that children are competent, capable, curious and rich in potential. Pedagogy is “the understanding of how learning takes place and the philosophy and practice that support the understanding of learning”. Curriculum (the content of learning) and pedagogy (how learning happens) in early years’ settings are shaped by views about children, the role of educators and families, and relationships among them. The pedagogical document, HDLH? helps educators focus on these interrelationships in the context of early years’ environments. It is organized around four foundational conditions that are important for children to grow and flourish: Belonging, Well-Being, Engagement, and Expression. These “4 foundations”, or ways of being, are a vision for all children’s future potential and a view of what they should experience every day. These four foundations apply regardless of age, ability, culture, language, geography, or setting. They are aligned with Ontario’s Kindergarten program and are conditions that children naturally seek for themselves.

SFLC’s early years’ programs implement Ontario’s pedagogy for the early years “How Does Learning Happen?”, The Early Learning for Every Child Today, “Think, Feel, Act,” and endorses principles that derive from the “Active Learning” educational approach viewing adults (educators/families) and children as being competent, capable, curious, and rich in potential.

The Early Learning for Every Child Today (ELECT) is a Framework for Ontario Early Childhood Settings. The framework sets out six principles to guide practice in early years' settings. It also provides a continuum of development for children from birth to age eight. ELECT is recognized as a foundational document in the early years' sector. It provides a shared language and common understanding of children's learning and development for early years' professionals as they work together in various early childhood settings. The principles of ELECT have informed provincial child care policy, such as the Ontario Early Years Policy Framework, as well as Pan-Canadian early learning initiatives such as the Statement on Play of the Council of Ministers of Education, Canada. ELECT principles are also embedded in the program document used in Ontario's innovative Kindergarten program.

Think, Feel, Act, are six research briefs for educators working in early years' settings which, highlight the latest research in early childhood development, strategies to put the key ideas into practice and reflective questions for educators. There is a common thread throughout the briefs: a view of the child as competent, capable of complex thinking, curious, and rich in potential. These briefs are intended to challenge the status quo and encourage critical reflection as we consider our work from different perspectives. As 'briefs', the documents are not intended to provide an in-depth analysis of each topic, but instead, to pique your interest and highlight key ideas that are useful and relevant to your work. You are encouraged to use the reflective questions throughout the briefs to stimulate personal reflection and team discussions. Educators and other professionals are invited to try out some of the suggested practices and exchange ideas with colleagues. Above all, these briefs are intended to get people talking about some of the big ideas that have such a significant impact on the experiences of children across the province.

In our programs you will observe:

A wide variety of open-ended play materials in loosely defined areas so that children can freely use the materials to support their exploration, inquiry and play with bodies, minds and senses.

SLFC believes in the "Active Learning" approach that involves children in direct, hands-on experiences with people, objects, ideas, and events. Through such self-initiated active learning experiences, children learn concepts, form ideas, and create their own symbols and abstractions. As conscious participants – observer adults share control and initiative with children in well-designed outdoor (mother earth/land-based) and indoor learning environments and are guided by the key development indicators (KDI's) that all children demonstrate when engaged in rich learning environments. Adults observe KDI's in a child's development and plan activities to support a child's intellectual/mental, physical, spiritual and emotional development. Adults understand and ensure the presence of the five essential elements of "Active Learning": 1) materials 2) manipulation 3) choice 4) language from the child and 5) adult support. The five (5) ingredients of active learning assures materials are age and culturally appropriate, provides many opportunities to freely manipulate the materials, make many choices, discuss their own ideas and pursue interests both with other children and adults. Children can rely on appropriate adult support to carry out ideas and to be responsible for their own efforts. At SLFC, our children are outside, weather permitting (appropriately clothed) most of the day to explore and interact with Mother Earth. Children and adults grow food in gardens and eat or share their harvest, engaging in respectful communication and use gentle hands when caring for the food, as it has spirit. They take pride in sharing these experiences with their families through story boards and food sovereignty presentations to visitors.

Periodic visits from and to community partners (e.g., Indigenous language/cultural specialists, recreation programs, local market, EarlyON Centre, library, Friendship Centre and community agencies) is incorporated in the program to enhance the child's world-view in a multi-layered and multi-cultural approach. The indigenous community partners plan pow-wows, solidarity day events at the schools and ceremonies for the families and children annually. Events are centred around trust, friendship and respect. Children and families are encouraged to participate in local community events specific to needs such learning the Ojibway language and drum socials.

Educators and providers use anecdotal notes and pictures of the children engaged in play, learning stories that documents the children's experiences and feedback from parents posted on the parent information boards and learning sheets. This reflective feedback is critical to the child's development and family development. The educators and staff choose an annual research question to look at children and family growth. SFLC over the years have looked at “How Children Understand Water” and “Ska:na in Motion” to gather information to help us understand our child care community through a more integrated lens.

In our program you will hear:

Adult child interaction dialogue that supports problem solving and co-learning throughout the entire day. Children are challenged and given choice to aid them in growing the necessary relationship skills in forming trusting relationships with peers and adults. SFLC is champion of the “Seeds of Empathy” program. This program teaching young children empathy for others and features a community infant and parents as leaders in teaching young children. Children are asked open-ended questions to guide adults in forming authentic relationships with children and families.

SFLC staff and providers take pride in being present for parents and children. We value effective communication which happens daily through exchange of information with families and staff approaches that support positive relationships, maintain communication and support continuous learning between staff, children, families and community partners; and support positive and responsive interactions among the children, parents, child care providers and staff; encourage the children to interact and communicate in a positive way and support their ability to self-regulate; foster the engagement of and ongoing communication with parents about the program and their children; involve local community partners and allow those partners to support the children, their families and staff; support staff, home child care providers or others who interact with the children at a child care centre or home child care premises in relation to continuous professional learning.

SFLC encourages and supports training and education of all adults participating in the program. On-site SFLC has dedicated adult classroom space, hosts community partners in supporting adults with English as second language, basic education skills-literacy, Indigenous cultural competency training and language classes. Many of children enrolled in child care are parents in receipt of these special services.

Moreover, Ska:na Family Learning Centre (SFLC) provides a comprehensive Program Plan which includes: Social Support, Education, Individualized Support, Culture/Language, Adult Training, Health and Sanitation, Mental and Emotional Wellbeing, Nutrition, Parental Involvement and Parental Involvement. Specifically, for children, youth, and their families living in an urban setting, to promote success within the mainstream school community and encompasses all aspects of their lives.

The following plan aims to respect and support all participating children’s languages and cultures. SFLC largely believes that it takes a Nation to raise a child and that the Nation is responsible to the child and for supporting the role of the family in ensuring wellness.

PREFACE

What is Licensed Home Child Care?

Ska:na Family Learning Centre (SFLC) Home Child Care Program provides a licensed, family setting, which can adapt to your family’s individual needs. Based on the age of the children in care and their schedules, this program can offer flexibility for child care in approved homes.

The Home Child Care Supervisor and EarlyON Indigenous Advocate/Visitor are fully registered Early Childhood Educators with the Ontario College of Early Childhood Educators, who can assist you with your child care arrangements. The Home Child Care Supervisor and EarlyON Indigenous Advocate/Visitor supports the placement between the Home Child Care Provider and your family.

Home Child Care Providers are individuals who have opened their homes to provide child care for children in our community. Each home must meet the requirements of the Ministry of Education’s legislation on licensed home child care, known as the Child Care and Early Years Act, 2014. Further, each home must meet the requirements of the Local Building, Health and Fire Departments.

Home Child Care Providers and all adult members of the household are required to have Criminal Reference/Vulnerable Sector Screens completed before children are cared for. Should your Home Child Care Provider have their own children 12 years and older, they must have clearance through the Children's Aid Society. This screening process is monitored by our Home Advocate/Visitor along with monitoring for medical information.

Your Home Child Care Provider's home is inspected on a regular basis by our Home Child Care Supervisor. The EarlyOn Indigenous Advocate/ visitor makes at least two visits per month to your Home Child Care Provider's home. Your Home Child Care Provider's home is also subject to "spot checks" at any time by the Home Child Care Supervisor of Ska:na Family Learning Centre, by Ministry of Education Staff, by the Children's Aid Society Staff or by the Local Building, Health and Fire Departments.

Your Home Child Care Provider is able to care for a maximum of six children 12 years and under. Their own children, under the age of six years, are included in that count. They are able to care for no more than two children under the age of two.

Selecting a Home for your Child

We encourage you to visit your potential Home Child Care Provider's home and assess it with your own child care priorities in mind. Where will daily activities take place? What types of culturally (Indigenous) planned activities (land-based learning) will be provided? Are some areas of the home off limits? Does the home meet with your standards of housekeeping? Are there pets in the home? Where will your child rest and for how long? What type of meals and snacks will be served? Etc. You should feel comfortable in asking any questions relating to the care of your child.

In the event your home child care arrangement does not "work out", after trying to reach a compromise with your Home Child Care Provider, please feel free to contact our Home Advocate/Visitor so that we can work out another child care arrangement with another Home Child Care Provider.

We are also here on an ongoing basis to further answer any questions or address any concerns you may have with respect to your Home Child Care experience. We are here to serve!

Home Child Care Handbook for Families

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT POLICY

Emergency Preparedness in child care means an urgent or pressing situation which immediate action is required to ensure the safety of children and adults. SFLC written policy and procedure for governing the Emergency Preparedness process has two components under the headings of External and Internal threat and encompasses the continued management of the organization in the event of a long-term event.

The Supervisor and Administration on site or LHCC Provider will determine the severity a possible threat and instruct the staff on which procedure to commence, Internal Threat (which could include fire), External threat, and from there either Shelter in Place, Lockdown or Evacuate.

Additional support for children with special needs (ie. Wheelchairs, medication etc.) must be planned for by the Supervisor and a procedure in place to assist with evacuation (ie. Kitchen staff on site will assist in rooms where children are in wheelchairs). All specific support staff persons are to be regularly updated on their assigned role.

In the event of a large-scale emergency declaration issued by the Federal, Provincial or Municipal authorities, SFLC has developed a SMART – Supervisors Management Alternative Response Team. The SMART shall consist of the Executive Director, Corporate Services Director and those workers deemed essential or necessary to manage the affairs of the Corporation. The SFLC SMART shall have recorded meetings, minutes taken, reports to the Board of Directors through the President and any authorities mandated by the rules governing any lawful orders given by the authorities.

The SFLC SMART shall maintain the operations of the corporation following or amending policies and implementing such policies and relevant procedures required to respond in an efficient, timely and responsible manner to mitigate risks, financially or physically, or damage to SFLC, our employees and the children and families we serve.

Emergency Recovery Procedure

SFLC administration is responsible for communicating and supporting individuals effected by the emergency. The Executive Director and the Corporate Services Director, in consultation with the President of the Board, shall determine the SFLC SMART within 24 hours of the incident or issuance of a Federal, Provincial or Municipal declaration.

As part of the recovery process from an emergency, staff including LHCC Provider, children, and parents will be debriefed on the details of the situation and recovery plan. SFLC has invested in storing files on a secure off-site, electronic server to insure availability in any instance.

SFLC is committed to ensuring that the appropriate supports are in place to begin the healing process.

- 1) Within 24 hours the organization will report to the families, Ministry of Education, and Municipal Children's Services Manager on the current status of the emergency detailing the recovery plan including dates and times of normal operations, if applicable.

- 2) When appropriate, children will be given the opportunity upon reconvening with peers to discuss in large group the experience and to share with peers their thoughts and feelings.
- 3) Within 48 hours, Staff will be given the opportunity to meet and discuss their individual experience and document findings on improving the Emergency Preparedness process.
- 4) Supervisor's and administration are responsible for completing an SOR in the Child Care Licensing System within 24 hours.
- 5) Supervisors must journal all incidents relating to the emergency event.
- 6) Follow-up reporting must be documented and submitted to the proper authorities.

Emergency Contact Information

The person's name, address and telephone number must be provided by the parent or guardian of the child. Ensure that the contact person will be available during school hours. You may be asked from time to time to update your contact person to ensure they are a reliable source.

Emergency Records Maintenance

A copy of your child's emergency information will be kept on file in the office and a file card box will be kept at all times in the classroom containing the emergency information.

Emergency Records Maintenance Procedures:

- Personnel will send out reminders in the newsletter for parents to update their emergency file with the program if any changes have occurred i.e. Address, name of emergency contact name and telephone number etc.
- When a change in emergency contact information has been reported, the staff person will make the change or inform the appropriate staff member(s) so that all files will reflect the change.
- The child's file in the Director's office will also be updated.

FIRE EVACUATION/SAFETY POLICY AND PROCEDURE

Each LHCC Provider must have a fire evacuation plan in place. Each resident must read and acknowledge the Fire Evacuation/Safety Plan and Procedures approved by the local fire chief with respect to the duties of each member of the household in the event of a fire; and follow the posted procedures where there is a fire and fire drill.

Suggested Procedures to practice in during Fire Drill:

1. Sound an alarm or test the smoke detectors in the residence.
2. Proceed to evacuate the residence as written in the evacuation procedures
3. Insure the attendance book is taken outside and a head count taken so that each child is accounted for.
 - In case a child is missing, proper authorities must be notified.
4. All residents will acquaint themselves with locations and use of Fire Extinguishers and phones
5. Fire Drills are held once a month, at different times of the day, and in varied weather.
6. If you are in the kitchen when alarm goes off, turn off all appliances.

In the case of a real fire, no person should re-enter the building, until the all clear is given by the Fire Department.

CONCERNS POLICY (Parent Issues and Concerns):

In all matters, we want you to feel confident and comfortable in sharing. Our utmost goal is that you and your Home Child Care Provider will have a positive relationship with easy communication for the sake of your child's care, growth and development.

SFLC, and its contracted Home Child Care Providers, strive to maintain a high standard for positive interaction, communication and role-modeling for children. Harassment and discrimination will, therefore, not be tolerated from any party involved. Issues/concerns may be brought forward verbally or in writing. Responses and outcomes will be provided verbally, or in writing upon request. As supported by our program statement, we support positive and responsive interactions among the children, parents/guardians, child care providers and staff, and foster the engagement of and ongoing communication with parents/guardians about the program and their children. Our home visitors are available to engage parents/guardians in conversations and support a positive experience during every interaction.
